About JPSHE

The Journal of Public Scholarship in Higher Education offers a dedicated venue for higher education faculty and administrative leadership to reflect on the ways that community engagement affects research, teaching, and service in higher education – and its outcomes for the classroom, the advancement of research and knowledge creation across the disciplines, faculty development, tenure and promotion processes, the preparation of graduate students, etc. The journal welcomes diverse manuscripts, from empirically-based examinations to critical reflection pieces, theoretical investigations, commentaries, case studies, and pedagogical and research designs. All submissions should identify implications for the growth and viability of public scholarship across the academy. The full call for papers, including manuscript submission guidelines, appears at the end of this volume. Please direct questions to Missouri Campus Compact, jpshe@missouristate.edu or mocc@missouristate.edu

Subscriptions

The Journal of Public Scholarship in Higher Education (ISSN 2374-894x) is published annually in October by Missouri Campus Compact, Missouri State University. Please direct permission requests to jpshe@missouristate.edu or visit the website at www.jpshe.missouristate.edu.

Call for Reviewers

We are looking for higher education faculty and staff with a terminal degree who have a background in community/civic engagement research and/or practice. Reviewers must be committed to assisting with the progression of the field of public scholarship and be able to devote time to the review process. Previous experience with publishing or serving as a peer-reviewer is recommended. Please see the JPSHE website for more information www.jpshe.missouristate.edu.
